Seminar 3 began on Sunday, 21 January, at the [redacted]

STATINTL

[redacted] The 20 participants and the staff assembled in the late afternoon for a get-acquainted buffet followed by an evening session which I attended and at which we discussed the purposes and significance of the Seminar.

The program for this week covers "The Senior Officer as Manager" and includes a two-day workshop, given by two staff members from the Federal Executive Institute, management case studies, and guest panelists from Headquarters.

The remaining eight weeks of the Seminar will be held at the Chamber of Commerce building except for five one-day local field trips.

b. Petroleum Course for OER Analysts

STATINTL

[redacted] a senior petroleum analyst in OER who is scheduled to retire in June, consulted with OTR/SIWA about the development of a course on petroleum. OER has asked [redacted] to develop the course so as to pass on some of his expertise to the younger analysts before his retirement. If things go as planned, there will be three monthly presentations at Headquarters beginning in March. SIWA staff members will provide any guidance that [redacted] needs in developing his program.

c. CT Attendance in Support Services Review: Trends & Highlights

After discussing the benefits cited in critiques by the five CTs who attended the most recent running of the course on an experimental basis, the Program Officers of the CT staff are exploring the possibility of fitting the members of the January Class into two of the three courses scheduled to be given between now and the end of June. The mix with the Support Careerists who attend the program is preferred to setting up a running for the CTs only.

(The Agency population of this group is estimated at [] persons.) The task force plans to send questionnaires to a portion of this population as a first step of inquiry before undertaking a more selective series of personal interviews.

a. Feedback from the two Agency participants in the FSI Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy, [], indicated that the "Day at CIA" was highly successful. The class voiced high praise and appreciation for the program and the reception they received at the Agency. They thought that Mr. Colby had set just the right tone and gave the appropriate subject coverage in his opening presentation on the organization of intelligence in the U. S. Government. A number of the visitors mentioned that they had been pleasantly surprised at the candor shown by all the speakers.

b. Two members of the Army War College staff visited OTR on 12 Jan to discuss the 2 February visit to the Agency by the 32 members of the current War College class. The program will begin at 10 a. m. with a 45-minute presentation by Mr. Colby, to be followed by Paul Walsh on the "National Intelligence Product," tours of the OCI and FMSAC operations centers, and
